Hey Ryan,

That sounds EPIC!!

As long as it fits within our Fair Play policy, you should be good to go!

Hopefully that project is a huge hit, and let us know if we can help with anything else! It's what we love to do!

We want to make sure we're doing a good job for you, so you'll always find the link to a four-question survey in our emails. Please tell us how we did today:

Subject: School Project

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of your organization.

Dear LEGO education Team,

My name is Ryan Palmer, and I am a high school student in Florida. I am reaching out to you because I have selected LEGO as the focus of my school project for Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA).

For my project, I plan to create a programming demo website showcasing LEGO products. The website will serve as a demonstration of my programming skills and will not be published online or used for commercial purposes. Its sole purpose is to fulfill the requirements of my FBLA project.

The project requires that I get permission in order to go through with the project. I would be grateful if you could provide approval for this project. If there are specific guidelines or requirements that I need to follow, please let me know.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Ryan Palmer.
